What's new? Procurement and supply assistant

Students interested in the way a business works, sourcing new suppliers using market research and spend analysis should consider this level 3 apprenticeship.

New apprenticeship vacancies to apply for

We've put together a list of new apprenticeships currently available across the country, including dental nurse, IT and data technician and optical assistant.

Apprenticeships to consider if your favourite subject is English

If your students enjoy literacy and getting creative with words, there is a range of careers open to them, from journalist to marketing assistant.

Employer focus: McDonald's

Each month we will look at companies and learning providers who deliver apprenticeships and see what they can offer your students. This month it's the fast food giant McDonald's.
